In general, semiotics examines signs as the vehicles which allow human beings to represent their world, to present information, to influence, or as Eco suggests, even to deceive and obfuscate (1976:7). A broad spectrum of signs and systems of signs in communities have been studied, whether the subject of that study is

Architects design buildings and other structures, inside and out, carefully considering engineering, function, and aesthetics. While it is true that architecture is an art, it is a more a functional and practical kind of artistic expression. Rather than being enjoyed only by its owner or by museum-goers -as with a painting - well-designed structures can enrich public life, providing lodging ...

Architecture as Signs and Systems: For a Mannerist Time ...

Architecture (Latin architectura, from the Greek ἀρχιτέκτων arkhitekton "architect", from ἀρχι-"chief" and τέκτων "creator") is both the process and the product of planning, designing, and constructing buildings or other structures. Architectural works, in the material form of buildings, are often perceived as cultural symbols and as works of art.
