To most of us, learning something "the hard way" implies wasted time and effort. Good teaching, we believe, should be creatively tailored to the different learning styles of students and should use strategies that make learning easier. Make It Stick turns fashionable ideas like these on their head. Drawing on recent discoveries in cognitive psychology and other disciplines, the authors offer concrete techniques for becoming more productive learners. Memory plays a central role in our ability to carry out complex cognitive tasks, such as applying knowledge to problems never before encountered and drawing inferences from facts already known. New insights into how memory is encoded, consolidated, and later retrieved have led to a better understanding of how we learn. Grappling with the impediments that make learning challenging leads both to more complex mastery and better retention of what was learned. Many common study habits and practice routines turn out to be counterproductive. Underlining and highlighting, rereading, cramming, and single-minded repetition of new skills create the illusion of mastery, but gains fade quickly. More complex and durable learning come from self-testing, introducing certain difficulties in practice, waiting to re-study new material until a little forgetting has set in, and interleaving the practice of one skill or topic with another. Speaking most urgently to students, teachers, trainers, and athletes, Make It Stick will appeal to all those interested in the challenge of lifelong learning and self-improvement.

Pensando nisso, Sérgio Damiano trouxe ao mercado livreiro a obra: Se vira você não é quadrado, publicada pela Literare Books International. Diante de tantas adversidades e concorrências é comum que os questionamentos se multipliquem dentro de cada empreendedor. Como é possível se virar? Como sair do quadrado e proporcionar um atendimento que surpreenda? Muitas pesquisas revelam que o primeiro contato entre empresa e consumidor é decisivo para que o cliente conclua uma compra. Dessa forma, o escritor inicia sua jornada pelo atendimento que envolve: relacionamento, interação e troca de sinergia. Sérgio Damiano propõe ao leitor um círculo contínuo que envolve três palavras-chave: conhecimento, entendimento e atendimento. Assim, inspirado nelas, divide com o público três constatações: 1) Quanto mais se conhece o outro lado, melhor o entende. 2) Quanto mais o entende, melhor pode atendê-lo. 3) Quanto melhor o atende, mais o conhece... O escritor traz também palavras de especialistas no tema, dados do IBRC (Instituto Ibero Brasileiro de Atendimento com o Cliente) responsável pelo ranking da revista Exame, há citação de cases de sucesso e a análise com uma metáfora e visão dos esportes para melhorar a fixação da mensagem. Junte-se a um grupo enorme de empresas e profissionais que se viram porque não são quadrados. Descubra como os colaboradores podem encantar seus clientes por meio de um atendimento eficaz e humano, perpetuando a atividade empresarial.

Pastor Tracy Wilde reflects on the absence of empathy in today's world and shares how Christians can renew their compassion to help unify not only the church, but society as well, in this timely and refreshing guide. Achieving meaningful relationships and cultivating lasting connections with others are often some of the most valuable experiences of our lives. So why can it sometimes feel so difficult to relate to the people around us if we all share the same human desire to bond? In Finding the Lost Art of Empathy, Tracy Wilde addresses the reasons why we struggle with showing empathy toward others and explains why we ultimately avoid it—and even avoid contact with others altogether. She explores the different facets that have promoted isolation instead of community and provides the antidote for a more unified, loving, and empathetic society. Inspirational and encouraging, Wilde inspires us to self-reflect and remove whatever obstacles from our lives that may be blocking our way to true fulfillment in our relationships—and living life the way God intends us to.
